UPPER VOICES

Secular and Sacred

NEW!

SECRET WATER GARDEN - for female choir, flute and piano

words: Sylvia Kolthof; music: Leo Köhlerberg

The composition 'Secret water garden' is dedicated to the Japanese conductor Keiichi Mori. Leo Köhlerberg has set the words of Sylvia Kolthof to music, which were inspired by the Japanese water garden. Japanese water gardens radiate tranquillity and philosophic wisdom and are extremely contemplative. These gardens don't consist of flowering plants, but of rocks, sand and natural stones. The water in particular is beneficial for relaxation. The light which reaches the 'Secret water garden' through time and space, reflects the spiritual connection.

SINGERS, SING - for upper voices (& organ)

music: Kees Bak

In 1964 Kees Bak was asked, by the World Library of Sacred Music in New York, to create one or several contrasting voice parts, possibly with an organ accompaniment for existing songs. He created parts for five songs, which have not been published before. This publication was realized in the spring of 2003 and it gives these works the opportunity to lead a life of their own. Because of their similar instrumentation, two works were added to this publication: 'La Cloche fêlée' composed to words by Charles Baudelaire (1821-1867) and 'Schoon boven alle schone' with words from the Dutch 'Volksliederenbundel', a book of folk songs compiled by a governmental committee led by prof. Dr. A. Smijers (published by J. H. Gottmer, Haarlem in 1952)

O holy Lord by all adored; Bread of heaven; O sacred head; Singers, sing; The earth is full; Blessed Trinity; La Cloche fêlée; Schoon, boven alle schone.

CHRISTMAS

NEW!

A DAY OF GLORY - Five Christmas Carols for upper voices (SSAA), flute (clarinet) & organ/piano words: traditionals; music by Ray Shepherd

Another beautiful composition of Ray Shepherd (b.1979) that will lend luster to your Christmas concert or - service is formed by this beautiful collection of Christmas Carols. Wonderful 4-part settings as well as unison passages, nearly always with a descant part in the last strophe, are giving this collection a special English character. The flute- (or clarinet-) part cannot be missed, especially in 'The shepherd's Hymn'. According to the circumstances three possibilities in the occupation of the orchestral accompaniment are available, as well as a unison songbook suitable for community singing.

Come to the manger; What Child is this?; The Shepherd's Hymn; When Christ was born; A day, a day of Glory
